My Love For You Remains

A million miles between us
Wouldn't change a thing
My love for you could bridge the distance and reach you just the same

Storms may rage against us
Life may bring us pain
My love will always be your shelter and sing you through the rain

And even if the stars should fall from the sky
My love will be the light that shines in your darkest night
If the sands of time should run out
Even If the sun should burn out
You can always know for sure my love will never fade
Even death can't separate us
For this love, we were created
Even if the world should end today
My love for you remains

Time will paint our hair gray
Age will take its toll
But my love will only see your beauty and worth as we grow old
If I should die before you
You'll never be alone
My love will reach you still from heaven and help to lead you home

Chorus

Bridge
A shooting star transcending space and time
There'll never be another love like yours and mine
